MANY EVENTS LISTED

Sports and Band Concerts During Day and Parade and Speaking in Evening To be Features

Plans for one of the biggest demonstrations Charleroi and neighboring towns every enjoyed are being gotten under way to properly celebrate the opening of the new Westside Electric Railways line to Bentleyville and Ellsworth within the next ten days. The day will be known as Charleroi-Ellsworth day. No date has been set, but it will be at the time of the formal opening of the new line.

Two general committees on arrangements are working, the Charleroi committee with R. O. Vetter at its head, and the Ellsworth committee with W. E. Lahm, superintendent of the mines of the Ellsworth Collieries company, as its chairman. A program of events that will cover the entire day has been mapped out.

A monster parade in which decorated floats will constitute the most important part, speaking by state and county officials, band concerts and sports will form the bulk of the events. Tonight further plans will be laid for the affair, and the probable date set at a meeting of the Charleroi and Ellsworth committee with C. F. Thompson, general manager of the electric line.

Program Elaborate.

One of the first events of the day will be a ball game at 10 o'clock at Ellsworth between Charleroi and Ellsworth. A band concert will take place at 1 o'clock at Charleroi, and the second ball game of the day will begin at 2 o'clock at Charleroi, with the Ellsworth team opposing the Charleroi Monongahela Valley League club. A marathon race will be held, with the finish of the race at the Charleroi baseball park, and a tug of war between Charleroi and Ellsworth teams will take place at the baseball park.

Noted Men Invited.

TO IMPROVE HOSPITAL ROAD PLAN IN VIEW

North Charleroi Borough Council Takes up Ordinance Presented by Petitioners--Charleroi Borough to Help.

Through Engineer Harvey F. Brown property holders along Seventh street of North Charleroi, presented a petition to North Charleroi council at their regular monthly meeting Monday evening asking for paving of the street. This is the street that leads to the Charleroi-Monessen hospital, and Charleroi borough will join, most likely with North Charleroi in improving the street. Engineer Brown presented an ordinance that passed first reading.

Provisions for the collection and disposal of garbage at North Charleroi are made in an ordinance that passed first and second reading. The plan calls for the employment of Harry Perry as garbage collector under provisions similar to those in force in Charleroi. Garbage is to be burned at the Charleroi incinerating plant.

Bills to the extent of $569.88 were ordered paid. The treasurer's report was summarized as follows:

Balance from last report	$ 7.86
Receipts	670.96
Total	$678.82
Disbursements	176.16
Balance in treasury	$502.66

Present at the meeting were Councilmen E. Crabb, S. C. Bane, Elmer Houston and Davis Woodward.

J. K. JOHNSTON WRITES EXPERT MINE ARTICLE

Jesse K. Johnson, former superintendent of the Charleroi Coal works and now superintendent of mines for the Pittsburg Plate Glass company, is the author of an interesting article appearing in the June issue of the Penn State Mining quarterly, a small magazine published by the mining department of State College. It tells of the coal fields in New Mexico and Arizona.

Mr. Johnson refers to this section as the "Coal Man's Wonderland." He states that there coal is found that is equal in quality to Pennsylvania's best coal. He also speaks of the cliff dwellers who lived in this section giving a description of their homes and surroundings.

DANCES AND PICNICS AT ELDORA PARK

Two decidedly interesting dances will be given this week at Eldora park, one by the Sylvan club, and the other by the Charleroi Bachelor Girls' club. The Sylvan club affair will be the second by this organization of popular young men tonight.

The Bachelor Girls' club of Charleroi will hold their first summer dance on Wednesday evening at the park, and have somewhat elaborate arrangements for entertaining. Their summer dances are usually among the leading social functions of the park season.

On Thursday there will be a valley picnic held by colored Sunday schools of the valley. The prospects are that the park will be filled on this date with colored people from many parts of Western Pennsylvania.

FLAMES DO MUCH DA AGE

Barn Burns at Monongahela Entailing Loss of $2,000

FEED IS DESTROYED

A loss of about $2,000 resulted when the barn belonging to George Pierce of Forward township, Allegheny county, was burned to the ground Monday evening.

When discovered the fire was raging in the haymow of the barn and had already gained such a headway that all attempts to save the building were utterly useless.

About an hour before the blaze was discovered, Mr. Pierce had taken the horses to the barn and had noticed no signs of anything amiss. When the alarm was sounded, the blaze being already visible, farmers and neighbors for miles around came to lend their assistance in getting the fire under control and it is due to their unrelenting efforts that the farm house was saved from destruction. A bucket brigade was formed and as the flame and sparks increased the house was continually kept moist and did not ignite.

It is not known how the fire originated but the supposition is that a tramp had been spending the night in the haymow and in some way started the blaze. The three head of horses were saved, but feed, harness and a large amount of stored lumber were destroyed with the barn. The amount of the loss was partly covered by insurance.

Delegates are attending from Charleroi today, and others will go for part of the sessions. Rev. W. A. Jones of Pittsburg president of the organization is presiding.

NEW DEPARTMENTS ARE ADDED TO THE SCHOOLS

Domestic Science and Manual Training Will Be Taught

PROVISIONS OUTLINED

Rooms at High School Building to be Used--Three Teachers Elected

Manual training and domestic science departments will be installed in the Charleroi schools this fall. This was the decision of the school board at their meeting Monday night, when they met to elect two officers and select three new teachers.

Domestic science will be taught female pupils of the sixth and seventh and eighth grades and the first year high school, and will include cooking, sewing and the other things pertaining to the proper care of a home. They will receive training in neatness and economy.

Manual training and mechanical drawing will be taught together. This department will be for the boys of the same grades.

The pupils from the grades will have to travel to the high school building for domestic training and manual training instruction. Each pupil will get about two period instruction a week. It was the intention of the board to introduce these departments last year, but for lack of room and the fact that the high school building was not completed they postponed action. Instructors will be chosen at a later date.

Other important business was transacted Monday night. E. W. Hastings was chosen treasurer of the school board. The Charleroi Savings and Trust company was selected as depository. Dr. T. M. Faddis was elected secretary of the board.

Miss Mary Moran, of Belle Vernon, Miss Grace Paxton, of California, and Miss Mary Hetherington, of Bentleyville, were elected as teachers, at the meeting.

Tonight is the regular time for the board to meet, so adjournment was taken Monday until tonight. The board was compelled to meet Monday night to comply with the state law, dealing with the time for school boards to elect officers.

BATHING BEACH IS BOOSTED

Citizen in Letter Advocates Enthusiastically the Proposed Plan

SUGGESTED SITE IDEAL

To the Editor of the Mail:

The proposition to provide a swimming and boating place for the town of Charleroi is meeting with much favorable commendation, and it is the hope that Charleroi business men and the council will join in making the proposition an established fact.

In the borough of Charleroi there is almost a mile of river front that could be made an ideal summer resort and one that would attract thousands to our town. What pleasure could be more enjoyed or have a more exhilarating effect than to dabble in the water for an hour and indulge in many of the antics for which bathing resorts are noted.

The cost would not be great. Certain it is that the drowning or death of one boy from bathing would be a greater loss than the cost of several swimming places and those drownings can be avoided by providing swimming pools under the supervision of the borough officials. It is seldom we hear of a drowning where there is authority present and that authority enforcing discipline and good behavious. The location from the Second street landing up toward the borough limits would be an ideal place. Hundreds of people could view from the banks of the river the antics of the bathers. The pleasures enjoyed by the people watching the bathers, the health giving qualities of bathing, anxiety and fear of the parents for their children, dispelled—knowing that the best of care will be exercised for their safety—and last but not least the knowledge that they can enjoy all the privileges of a seaside resort right at home with very little outlay of money is important.

Let us have the swimming and boating place. It will add to our town's fame, bring hundreds of visitors here—and give joy and pleasure to the deserving people of Charleroi, who know how and can do things.

Yours For Charleroi,
John J. Oates.

IN FIGHTING MOOD.

"I am a Republican. I am a staunch advocate of Republican policies and I am a firm believer in the policy of protection and consequent prosperity. Pennsylvania will be carried by the Republicans this fall by an overwhelming majority. As the party's candidate for United States senator I am ready and willing to meet every opposition. People generally are suffering from the ruinous Democratic policies and they are demanding relief."

That in brief is the statement made by Senator Penrose on his two day's visit to Pittsburg last week. Confident that he is right and satisfied that a great majority of the people of the state are back of him, Senator Penrose created enthusiasm among Republicans by his emphatic declaration of war against his opponents and the opponents of the Republican policies, and his assurance that he was abundantly ready to meet all persons and all questions involved in present day politics had a good ring.

Senator Penrose gave ample assurance that he is a fighter and that the principles and policies of the Republican party are well worth fighting for, and in addition to creating enthusiasm he encouraged confidence among the Republicans and when he returned to his home he carried with him reason to believe that the western end of the state was solid for his re-election.

Politicians generally are of the belief that the Penrose visit guarantees Republican success throughout the state.

BETTER THAN NEW INDUSTRY.

Charleroi has had celebrations and then more celebrations, but few of them ever possessed the significance that the Ellsworth-Charleroi day promises. Here is something that can be consistently celebrated with propriety of reason.

The opening of the Bentleyville electric railways line will be one of the most important things that ever happened to the Charleroi community. It of course is not saying that it will be any consequence to Bentleyville, Ellsworth, because it is important to that region as Charleroi. But the Charleroi-Bentleyville line is a country town that has distinct advantages. As a drawing institution it has the Bentleyville campgrounds. Ellsworth ranks high as a mining community, it has important industries located there and has municipal conduct of a kind that few mining communities can boast of. Charleroi is the Magic City of the Monongahela valley. Charleroi is a good residence town, and so is Bentleyville. The new line touches Monessen, an important mill town and Belle Vernon, an attractive residential section. Together with all these, the Maple Creek vicinity offers advantages. The new street car line traverses a beautiful, scenic route particularly pleasing for out-of-town residences.

Think of the combination—industry and residential section combined. The biggest of industries and the best of offerings to homeseekers are here. Suburban and city advantages are presented. The new trolley line is simply an agency to develop resources. Considering all, this coming celebration is timely and deserves the boost that it is getting.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

In an examination given for prospective teachers at a certain point in Washington county recently by County Superintendent L. R. Crumrine, one of the questions asked, according to the story which has leaked out, was: "What is a congressman at large?"

Many and varied were the replies given by the anxious applicants for certificates, but the most original as well as the most clever one was the following:

"When congress is not in session and they turn him loose—then he is a congressman at large."

A good sto ry is related by a valley man concerning an unfortunate circus performer named Zeno, who is said to have visited Charleroi on various occasions with a large circus.

One winter Zeno got with a barnstorming troupe and about the middle of December woke up one morning to find that the show had busted and the manager was paying off. According to immemorial custom, he was paying the customers in alphabetical order. The money gave out at W, as a painful result of which Zeno walked back to New York.

A year later one of his brother unfortunates met him—this time with a circus.

"Hello, Zeno," he shouted.

"Zeno, your grandmother!" responded the circus man. "My name's Ajax."

E. B. SPEERS TO WED NEW CASTLE GIRL WEDNESDAY

Charleroi people have received news of the forthcoming wedding tomorrow morning at 11:30 o'clock of Miss Gladys Kelley of New Castle and Edgar B. Speers, formerly of Charleroi, but now secretary, treasurer and manager of the New Castle Herald. They are to be married at the home of Miss Kelley's grandmother in New Castle.

Mr. Speers is well known here, where he lived at one time. He was graduated from the Charleroi high school. Afterwards he studied law at West Virginia University at Morgantown and completed that course with credit to himself. While in the university he was connected with the "Atheneaum," the college weekly. After leaving college he became interested in the New Castle Herald, where he has been since.

CORNERSTONE LAYING WILL OCCUR JULY 9

If everybody who suffers from or is threatened with Lung Trouble would investigate the many cases where recoveries were brought about through the use of Eckman's Alterative, a remedy which has stood the test for nearly fifteen years, a strong opinion in favor of it would be the result. "Gentlemen: Last December I took a sudden cold, which developed into Pneumonia. The doctor did all he possibly could for me, but could not clear my lungs. One day I saw a testimonial in one of the papers telling of the good results someone had from taking Eckman's Alterative for a trouble of the lungs. I began taking it and soon felt good results. My lungs began to clear up and I began to gain in strength and was soon well enough to take up my work again. I am in better health now than I have been at any time. I am a missionary worker for the New York Home for Homeless and Friendless Boys.

ATE PIE WITH "TRIMMINGS"

Natural to Imagine That Under the Circumstances Delicacy Had a Peculiar Flavor.

This is a true story of what happened not long ago at a G. A. R. banquet in a Kansas town.

Two epicureans had reached the dessert of the menu. Blackberry pie was the piece de resistance. The pie, rich and juicy, had been brought to the dinner on a pasteboard pie pan, but the juice had soaked through the pasteboard and pan and pie had been slipped on a china plate.

"Man," said one epicurean, as he severed a generous bite with his fork, "this is the best looking pie I ever looked at." But as he "Fletcherized," a blank look dawned on his face. He took another bite. "It's a little different from any blackberry pie I ever ate," he said thoughtfully, "but it's great, that's what it is."

The other man ate contentedly. "Of course it tastes that way to you," he said superciliously, "but my daughter, you know, is an advanced domestic science student and this pie doesn't have an unusual taste to me at all." They were finishing in satisfaction, the domestic science girl's dad was reluctantly lifting the last juicy bite from the plate, when a half smothered giggle at his right diverted his attention. He turned inquiringly.

"You've both eaten the pasteboard plate with your pie," explained the fellow guest, her face very red with suppressed laughter. Sure enough they had.

IN THEIR OWN CONVEYANCE

People of Today Returning to Traveling Methods of the Eighteenth Century.

The nineteenth century has seen the passing of the democracy of travel. With the twentieth has come a return to the aristocratic methods of the eighteenth century, when a gentleman, if he wished to tour the continent, did so in his own coach. Friends in the country, inviting a lady of quality to visit them, wrote asking where horses should meet her. She naturally came in her own carriage. When Miss Edgeworth's heroine "Helen" wished to pay her debts, her principal asset was her traveling chaise.

In the youth of our own grandfathers, the truly great, enshrined in an aristocratic vehicle, refused to descend from it even when on shipboard. The opera singer, Grisi, crossed the Channel in her own coach, while her dutiful husband stood on deck at the coach window, holding the harmless, necessary basin. The individual vehicle was a hall-mark of distinction.

There has been an interval when people were content to herd together in railway trains, but it has already passed away. We have returned to the private, the special, the personal; in a word, we have gone back to the eighteenth century. Now, as then, a gentleman travels in his own conveyance.—From the Atlantic.

Irreverent Senate Pages.

During the brief opening prayer of the chaplain, says Fred C. Kelly, in an article on the senate, in Harper's Weekly, it may be noted that no two senators behave exactly alike. Senator Stephenson leans over and grasps his desk by the front corners and steers it carefully through the invocation. Senator Smith of Michigan places his finger tips gently yet firmly on the back of his chair, and Senator Bristow lays his palms flat on his desk as if about to turn a handspring. The little page boys with bowed heads range themselves in a semi-circle against the front desks and look so guileless and innocent that one would scarcely suspect the ruthless manner in which they have nicknamed practically every senator on the floor. Mr. Meyers of Montana and Mr. Simmons of North Carolina are known as Mutt and Jeff. Mr. Pomerene of Ohio, they call the Madonna, because of his sad, earnest face. Senator DuPont is Gloomy Gus, and Reed Smoot is Lord Longbow.

Robin Seems to Be Signaling.

A robin for a month has been in the habit of flying at early dawn to the residence of Woodbury Potter, J. R. Andrews and Oliver Moses of Bath, Me., and pecking at the window glass for minutes at a time. At first the families residing in these homes thought that the robin was hungry and answered his supposed requests for food by placing on the window sills crumbs for him to eat. But this did not satisfy the bird, which kept coming and awakening the inmates each sunrise and often before the sun had risen. The rat-a-tat of his beak on the glass disturbs the sleepers' morning slumbers and can be heard up and down the street. It sounds like the racket of a woodpecker. Just what the robin wants is a mystery.

Extremely Indefinite Man.

George Rothwell Brown, the wit, believes in every man standing up for his own principles. When Brown was created, the element of compromise was not put into his makeup. He likes to go at things on the jump, rapidly, with final results.

One day in a Boston club somebody mentioned the name of a prominent Hebrew who was considered wishy-washy in his political views, and who was not particularly interested in his religion.

"Oh, he's a fellow," said Brown quickly, "midway between the Old and New Testament."—Popular Magazine

What Constitutes Success?

There are different standards of judging. John Wanamaker ought to know something about it. He has attained heights in the business world where his opinion carry weight. Listen to what he says—

"The chief reason that everybody is not successful is the fact that he has not enough persistence. Do one thing well throwing all your energies into it. The successful man, unlike the poet, is made, not born."

Encouraging, isn't it? Now persist a little more diligently than ever. And let us help you by caring for your money.

COMMONSENSE people all now recognize the value of letting the public know who you are, and what you have to offer in the world in the way of commodity or service.

WHEN we speak of advertising we speak of the most powerful force that acts today in the world of business.

THE American people form by all odds the best educated and most open-minded public in the world. All they want is the truth, and when get that, they act clearly, logically and some times with surprising speed.

THE public wants to know the facts. It wants the facts about a kind of shoe or a brand of flour. It wants to know the kind of stuff tnat goes into a suit of clothes or a package of crackers.

The One Thing Above All Others

The Public Demands is Publicity

IT has learned to be very skeptical about any event that occurs in the dark.

DO not keep your light under a bushel and create the opinion that you are no longer in business. Let the people know what you have to offer to them.

SIX VICTIMS OF CANNIBALS

Native Missionaries in the New Hebrides Meet Death as Martyrs to the Faith.

The killing and eating of six native missionaries by cannibals is the latest horror to be added to the grim record of the New Hebrides. A few weeks ago the little band (eight in all) was sent into the cannibals' territory at the latter's request. No sooner had they landed, however, than they were set upon by armed savages. Six of them were shot down like dogs and, it is feared, eaten with full tribal rejoicings. The tribe responsible for the tragedy is a large one, and is known locally as the big Namba. They occupy the greater portion of the north of Malakula Island, are of fine physique, with an unenviable reputation for cold-bloodedness and treachery. The nearest mission station to Malakula is on the island of Walla, eight miles away. Early in May eight missionaries crossed over to Malakula, and preached in a native village, afterward returning to headquarters. A few days later Dr. Sandiland, who is in charge of the mission station, received a request from the Malakula natives that the missionaries should be sent over again. Eight native missionaries were dispatched to the village, and, after preaching, stated their intention of going on to the next. This proposal met with the disapproval of the natives, who warned the missionaries that it would be dangerous to go farther. They disregarded the warning, however, and went to their doom. Almost as soon as they arrived at the village they were set upon by a huge crowd of armed savages, who hemmed them in on every side, uttering hideous war cries. At a given signal shots were fired, and six missionaries fell, mortally wounded. The remaining two escaped.

FAYETTE CITY HAS GOOD LEAD IN THIS LEAGUE

Fayette City has things pretty nearly its own way in the Monongahela Valley league just at present, possessing a pretty lead in the race. Belle Vernon holds second honors while Charleroi has to be content with third, and Monessen fourth.

President John Jenkins and Secretary A. R. Murphy are preparing to issue averages for the first part of the season, covering games up to and including the Fourth of July. It is anticipated that batting averages will be high.

The two hottest rivals in the league are the Monessen and Charleroi teams. These two teams will draw a crowd anywhere and anytime. Charleroi has the best ball park in the entire circuit because of the activities of the late Pawva league backers during their regime here.

MAKE DRUG STORE A CLUB

Many Are the Resort of the Neighborhood in a City, Until the Closing Hour.

When the head of a famous firm of "English chemists" was in this country, studying the conditions in his business, he found out that an American drug store is not the same as a drug store or chemist's shop in a European city. "We have no stationery bargain counters, no piles of fine candies, no cigar stands. Business goes much more swiftly than abroad. There is no lingering or loitering."

Truly a superficial observer! It has been said that the barroom is the club of the poor man. Certain "uplifters," regarding the barroom as a necessary evil, wish to make it decent, tolerable, educational.

To many a corner "drug store" is a club. This one haunts the soda water fountain; that one buys cigars or candy. There are habitues who drop in regularly. They call the proprietor "Doc." The clerks are addressed by their first name. There is talk about the ball game, the shows at the theaters, politics, local and national. There is a gathering at night that disperses only at the closing hour. There is mysterious conversation in a corner; the two men stand with their heads close together.

Now and then a blatant person tells a story, beginning: "I heard a good one this morning. Stop me, if you know it."

The drug store in the city is what the store is in the village. After all, the talk is practically what you hear in any club. The essential difference between the institutions is that there is no election committee for admission to the shops. Man is a clubable animal, normally gregarious. At night lights attract him. During the summer, seated near the fount of mineral waters or lolling against a counter, he observes the coming and going of humanity and thinks he is seeing life.—Philip Hale in Boston Herald.

Modern Housekeeping.

Milady sings at her work. The portable vacuum cleaner — milord keeps up with all the latest improvements—gratefully eats up its daily dust. The fireless cooker prepares the meals, with a perfection and deliciousness unrealized in the old days." A bas mother and the way she used to cook! But in serving these meals of a hitherto unrealized perfection and deliciousness milord and milady must needs chase each other between kitchen and dining room. The guest at dinner, if he is luckily accustomed to picnics, carries his own plate and washes it afterward. I have myself entertained many a guest in this fashion, and he has carried his own plate, and, being that kind of a guest or I wouldn't have invited him, he has cheerfully helped wash the dishes, wearing a borrowed apron. But it would be absurd to claim that this performance, indefinitely repeated, is an improvement upon an orderly, efficiently served dinner party. Conversation at dinner is more desirable than a foot-race between the courses; nor do I believe that life under such conditions can possibly "become so alluring that one day the great majority of us will choose it first of all."—From the Atlantic.

"No Smoking."

When railways were a novelty the companies vigorously enforced their anti-smoking laws. The Great Western company once caught a tartar, says London Tit-Bits. The station master at Didcot removed a passenger from an "up" express train and handed him over to the police on a charge of smoking to the annoyance of a fellow-traveler. Next day the prisoner was brought before the magistrate, and when asked what he had to say in answer to the charge he replied:

"Gentlemen, the offense took place in the County of Wilts, whereas I am now charged in Berkshire. I am a solicitor; I was specially engaged in a case which I shall now miss, and I shall sue the company for detaining me. I respectfully hold that you in this county have no jurisdiction over what occurred in another county."

He was released, and he did sue the company and got £30 damages.

The first smoking-carriage was introduced on the Eastern Counties railway in September, 1846.

Value of a Wife.

The magistrate had asked all of the customary questions about taking "this man," or "this woman," for a lawful wedded companion and about "promising to love, honor and obey." The ceremony was finished. The couple were married.

The bridegroom started to reach for his wallet. Then he stopped.

"Squire," he said, "I gotta proposition to make to ye. I'll give you $2 now, or I'll wait six months and give you what I think my wife's worth then, even if it's $200."

The magistrate looked at the bride for a moment. "I believe I'll take the $2 now," he said.—Louisville Times.

Cutting and Polishing.

The Rev. Holman Black was congratulated in Denver by a reporter, after an eloquent sermon, on his mastery of pulpit oratory.

"What is your secret, sir?" the reporter asked.

"Well," was Dr. Black's smiling answer, "a preacher should always remember that while there are sermons in stone, the more precious the stone is, the more carefully [illegible] and polished."

IS WORLD'S GREATEST BANK

Lloyd's Total Now Mounts Up to No Less Than Five Hundred Million Dollars.

With its recent acquisition of the Wilts & Dorset Banking company, Lloyd's bank of London becomes probably the greatest financial corporation of its kind, as its deposit and current account now aggregates more than $500,000,000.

Lloyd's bank has a history extending over a long period of years, as the private bank out of which it was formed was established in 1865, and the present banking corporation was formed in 1865. Including its latest acquisition, the bank has absorbed no less than 48 other banking houses since 1865, and of these 25 were private banks, one of these dating back to 1677. The bank is represented in 45 out of the 52 counties in England and Wales, and a subsidiary company was formed in 1911 to open a branch in Paris, an old French private banking house being taken over.

It is unusual for an English joint stock bank to organize a subsidiary for doing business in a foreign country, but this plan had to be adopted. Under the French law, to conduct a banking business in France would have rendered the entire capital of the bank, no matter where located, subject to taxation. In all, Lloyd's bank now has 880 separate offices. While an incorporated bank, the traditions of the private banking days yet remain, and practically every official of the bank and its branch managers were educated in private banking houses, and preference is always given to men so educated in taking on new employes.—Wall Street Journal.

FEAR TO TRUST THE MARRIED

Men in High Place Give the Best Positions to the Bachelors, for Ungallant Reasons.

The stars in their courses seem to be fighting against the married man, says the San Francisco Argonaut. It appears that he is now to be discriminated against on the ground that he is certain to impart trade secrets to his wife, who, as we all know, is equally certain to impart them in her own peculiar ways to the world at large.

The latest employer to join this unholy league against the married man, and thus to increase the natural perils of his position, is Sir Thomas Lipton. His only chance to win the America cup is to preserve inviolable secrecy as to the design of his new yacht, and he is therefore rigid in his decision that only bachelors need apply for work in his yard.

Another impenitent offender in this respect is Lord Kitchener, who not only refuses to have any married men on his staff in time of war, but who promptly removes from his staff any officer guilty of matrimony during active service. It seems, therefore, that the old charge against women of inability to keep a secret must be enlarged. Not only are they themselves incapable of keeping a secret, but they decline to allow their husbands to do so.

Uncle Sam Will Test Your Watch.

Regular testing of watches for the public was inaugurated by the United States bureau of standards recently, thus taking up the testing and certification of watches in a similar manner to that carried on by the Kew observatory in England, the Besancon observatory in France and the Geneva and Neuchatel observatories in Switzerland. Preliminary tests upon the various types and makes of American watches have already been made, the results of which have been the modification of European testing methods and the establishment of certain standards of tolerances for practical service. The possession of a government certificate will enable the owner of a "certified watch" to know that he has a timepiece which conforms to the average and reasonable performances of high-grade adjusted watches. The fees for tests will merely cover the actual cost of the trials.

Terrible Misfortune.

"They are shifting consuls on the merit system," said Jerome S. McWade, the Duluth collector. "Here's a man in Shanghai at $4,500 getting shifted to Barcelona at $3,000. Another consul with a Warsaw job at $4,000 is shifted on the merit system to Fiume at $3,000. A few more such shifts, and where will the poor fellow land?

"'Shifting consuls on the merit system'—that's a good way to express it. It reminds me of Bilson.

"'Have you heard of the terrible misfortune that has befallen Bones?' Bilson said to me.

"'No!' I said. 'No!'

"'Bones, poor fellow,' said Bilson, 'has eloped with my wife.'"

Earth's Unfortunates.

Sing Sing's prison newspaper, the Star of Hope, notes the recently published bulletin of the census bureau that 493,934 persons were committed to prison in the United States in 1910, 14,147 of them children. If five persons were affected directly and disastrously by the commitments, 2,500,000 people, or one in 40 of the country's inhabitants, suffered because of [illegible] to them went to [illegible] the hundred [illegible] and [illegible]
